CHICAGO, Nov. 2.-The Building Contractors' Council, of Chicago, through its secretary, issued a call to-night for a national convention of building contractors' councils and contractors' associations to meet in Chicago Dec. 10 to form a national association. The object of the new organization will be to make joint trade agreements between contractors' councils and labor unions, to prevent strikes or lockouts and to settle all disputes by arbi-

The present depression in the building in-dustry, which the call says, is due primarily to the unusual activity of organized labor in the building crafts, is to be looked into and remedied by the national body if possible. The scarcity and high price of certain building materials has had a tendency to curtail building operations, and some remedy for this condition of affairs also will be devised.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. TIPTON, Ind., Nov. 2.- The Tipton county grand jury was in session this morning, and the first case acted upon was that of Jesse McClure, child murderer, now confined in the county jail. Several witnesses were examined, and in less than an hour an indictment was returned against him for murder in the first degree. Judge Elliott announced this afternoon that on Tuesday he would set the day of the trial, and in all probability the case will be tried next week. As McClure is without means, Judge Elliott appointed Attorney W. R. Oglesby, county attorney, to defend the prisoner. The opinion prevails that Mr. Oglesby will defend his client on the plea of insanity, but many believe that he will throw the prisoner's case upon the mercy of the court. When informed this afternoon of the indictment returned against him, McClure was unmoved and made no statement.

ATTEMPTED HOLD-UP

Another Outbreak Reported in the Howard County Fued District. Special to the Indianapolis Journal.

KOKOMO, Ind., Nov. 2.-There is renewed excitement in the so-called feud district in Taylor township, eight miles south

Late last night Jacob Graff, after spending Sunday evening with his sweetheart, Miss Garshwiler, and while en route home in his buggy, was attacked by four masked men, two of whom caught his horse and the others attacked Graff with supposed murderous intent. Graff was armed, and, drawing his revolver, defled his assailants. and by vigorous use of the weapon compelled the men to flee.

The hold-up was in the same neighborhood where Francis Sutton and Lewis Yeager lost their lives last May while returning home after calls on their affianced brides. The similarity of time and other circumstances leads to the belief in some quarters that assassination was intended. Others hold that robbery was the motive, and that murder was not contemplated. The attack has created much excitement.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 2.—Realizing that further curtailment of the product is necessary to restore the pig iron market to its normal condition, representatives of nearly all the big pig iron producers in the Eastern district held a meeting here to-day and adopted a resolution to continue the same ratio of reduction for November as during October. This means that all the merchant blast furnaces in eastern and southern New York, eastern Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Delaware and Maryland will reduce their output for the current month at least 20 per cent. The production for October showed that the total output of the furnaces involved had been reduced to 68,500 tons. The average monthly output is 112,000 tons. This large reduction was caused by the action of Lackawanna Iron and Steel Company blowing out all its furnaces in the Cornwall district in Pennsylvania and by a restriction in the output of the Pennsylvania Steel Company and the Maryland Steel Company of over 25 per cent. As the Lackawanna furnaces will not resume during November, it was calculated that the month's output would be reduced at least 30 per cent. torneys for Baker showed by Capt. E. E. Mortfeld was a paroled patient of a hospital for the insane and it is believed the deed was committed because of his fear of being returned to the asylum, as arrangements had been made to send Mortfeld to the Washington Asylum Hospital to-day or to-morrow. Mrs. Mortfeld engaged in a desperate struggle with her husband before she was killed. She received a cut on her forehead

The landlady ran into the street and appealed to several people, one, a watchman at a nearby building, but all failed to respond. Mrs. Worrell returned, telling Mrs. Mortfeld to hold out a little longer as the police were coming. Two shots were then fired and Mrs. Worrell thinks they were intended for her. Three shots followed and it is believed these ended the lives of the couple.

BERLIN, Nov. 2.—The German govern ment, which is disposed in its policy to lean toward Russia, is not making any political capital out of the approaching meeting of Emperor William and the Czar at Wiesbaden on Wednesday next. An intimation has been spread through the government newspapers that the meeting of the two monarchs will be of a purely social character and without political significance. The German Emperor will arrive at Wiesbaden to-morrow from Saalburg, where he went to examine the latest excavations at the Roman camp, and the Czar will reach Wiesbaden the day following. The two monarchs and their suites will be present at a gala performance at the opera, which, it appears, will be the only festivity. The German Emperor will, as is usual on these occasions, be attended by a great company

Did Not Let Doctor See Babe.

BERLIN, Nov. 2.-At to-day's session of the court which is trying the Countess Isabelle Wezierska Kwilecki, Dr. Rossiki, the family physician, testified that he came to Berlin from Posen in answer to telegrams from the countess and visited her the night after the ostensible birth of her son. The countess persistently refused to permit the doctor to examine her, which made a painful impression on the physician. Herdaughter also vainly urged the countess to submit to an examination. The doctor's request to examine the child also was refused, under the excuse that the infant had just been warmly wrapped up. The child in description was described as being strong and as weighing ten pounds. It was not mpossible that it was just born, but the doctor had his doubts and they were only removed by the assurances of two hoble Polish ladies, Countess Von Mozewska and Von Koszorowska, who asserted that they were present at the birth. They, however, afterward admitted they were absent.
